KNOX-BOX RESIDENTIAL PROGRAM

The Kitty Hawk Fire Department along with Knox Company is offering a Residential Knox-Box (key box) program for the citizens of Kitty Hawk. This is a free service for residents and donations are accepted to offset the cost. When a medical emergency strikes, help is only a call away. However, for those who live by themselves or who have special mobility issues, what happens when they can not get to the door to let first responders in?

The Knox-Box Residential Program is ideal for individuals:

- With a history of medical problems
- Recuperating from a hospital stay
- Living alone
- Using an electronic calling/medical alert service
- Seasonal residents

The Knox-Box Residential Program enhances the Fire Department's response times. A residential Knox-Box not only allows fire department personnel to enter a home unassisted, it also prevents forced entry damage and added stress to the patient.

The Kitty Hawk Fire Department and many of the businesses in Kitty Hawk have been using this program for many years now. There has never been a problem associated with its use and has saved many hundreds of dollars in damages associated with entry into locked businesses.

If you or someone you know may need assistance from emergency services and has a mobility problem, then this program may be your answer. If interested or if you have any questions, please contact Fire Chief Lowell Spivey (252-261-2666) for information on how the Kitty Hawk Fire Department may be of assistance.

Cyber Bullying and Internet Safety Awareness Presentations

Bullying and Cyberbullying have become topics of concern over the past couple of years here on the Outer Banks and around the country. The Kitty Hawk Police Department continues to be on the forefront of preventative programs by addressing these two serious topics as well as others that affect our community.

Detective Brian Strickland has taken the initiative to provide education on these topics to local school officials, guidance counselors, community leaders and parents. Strickland has been invited to provide presentations to the local schools on cyber bullying awareness and Internet Safety over the past several years. He will continue into the New Year with presentations to both the schools as well as ones open to the public at the Kitty Hawk Town Hall. If your club, church, civic or school group is interested in a presentation please call Detective Strickland at (252) 261-3895 or e-mail him at kbstrickland@kittyhawktown.net with the particular subject matter you would like discussed.
